

“Should You Hire a Painter?”

Painting, when it's done correctly, is the least expensive way to upgrade and protect your home.

A good exterior paint job acts like a shield against the elements, and interior painting provides durability and warmth to your living spaces.

Speciality finishes can also add sophistication when installed correctly.

Hiring a professional painting contractor to complete a painting project rather than going the “do-it-yourself” route is a very good idea for several reasons:

- 1) A professional painter has all the necessary equipment to get the job done quickly and easily, especially when dealing with elevated areas. This saves you time and eliminates the possibility of much frustration.
- 2) A poor paint job, or one that's done using substandard products, will not improve the appearance of your home. Improper prep work will result in an inferior top coat leading to rapid failure and general sloppiness will stand out like a sore thumb.
- 3) Safety: Painting can be hazardous work, whether it's working on a ladder or dealing with VOC's and dust. Hiring a professional contractor means you don't have to worry about these issues.
- 4) Cleanup and Disposal: Hiring a professional contractor means you don't have to worry about the disposal of paint residues and leftovers. Professional painters know how to properly handle hazardous waste disposal.

Remember: “It cost less to do it right - than to do it over!”
